

TULSA

A fitting place for a fabulous lifestyle

Nestled amid the rolling green hills of northeast Oklahoma, on the banks of the beautiful Arkansas River, Tulsa offers a rich blend of culture and history, art and science, western Americana and international flair.

With its temperate climate (average daily temperature of 61 degrees and 227 days of sunshine a year), the Tulsa area is a virtual recreational paradise, featuring seven large lakes with thousands of miles of shoreline and an extensive park system. Recreational opportunities include hiking, biking, boating, camping, fishing, hunting, golf, tennis, horseback riding, all types of water sports and more.

Spectator sports include the Double-A Baseball Tulsa Drillers, a farm team of the Colorado Rockies, the Tulsa Talons professional arena football team, the Central Hockey League's Tulsa Oilers, as well as collegiate sports teams from the University of Tulsa and Oral Roberts University.

When it comes to arts and culture, Tulsa has something for everyone, from the Tulsa Symphony Orchestra, Ballet and Opera to the annual Juneteenth Jazz Festival to Broadway Series performances. Museums include the Thomas Gilcrease Museum, featuring more than 10,000 works of American art, and the Philbrook Museum, home to Italian Renaissance art, Native American offerings and ancient and classical pieces.

From bodacious barbecue eateries to elegant white-tablecloth restaurants, Tulsa offers a dining scene that will please every palate. If it's nightlife you're after, you'll find your fill in the popular Brookside area, as well as in establishments in the Brady District and Blue Dome District. If shopping's your bag, you'll find everything from antiques and trendy clothes boutiques to multi-store malls and plazas.

Friendly people, lovely tree-lined neighborhoods, excellent schools and numerous community events and activities make Tulsa an ideal choice for singles, families and everyone who wants to live "the good life."
